This giant leap into the 70's marked not only the beginning of a new decade, but . . .

. . . also the continuance of a growing spirit of individual freedom
granted to each student of Webster High.

The administration acted as a direct influence, concerned with each student's wishes and needs.

New division of duties among the Big 3—

Mr. Paul H. Brackens, Mr. Earl Quist,

and Mr. Robert K. Smith

—allowed all to enjoy

better communication between students and advisors.

Students became more involved . . .

. . . through more open student council gatherings,
through new programs initiated by students themselves,
through interest in a free study program.

Better communication made students more aware of the world about them.

Active participation, supporters and opposers expressing their views, created an atmosphere of concern
on Moratorium Day.

Humanities, which correlated English and history in an effort to understand man and his different cultures,
past to present,
completed its second year of experimentation in group dynamics and individual effort.

Computer Math,
introduced this year,
brought to Webster's doorstep
the age of computer programming.

Blueprints were made for a revised English department, to include more specialized courses,
each taught in nine-week periods.

Orange and Black rallied to Statesmen victories.

Fans in the stands shouting and cheering, cheerleaders jumping, majorettes twirling silver-sleek batons, and pom-poms being shaken to the music of marching band aroused excitement for the big event, traditional Turkey Day.

Spirit was there.

The new, restless spirit of the individual was there, too . . .

... reading books,
and auditing courses, a system begun this year,
both which educate
through one's own efforts.

THIS is the beginning of the 70's
In the 60's man set the seemingly fantastic goal to land man on the moon.
What will we
as unique individuals of Webster High contribute to the 70's?

Mr. Kenneth Griffith

Counselors

Counselors are always seeking to help the individual student with his personal, vocational, social, or educational objectives.

Emphasis this year was placed upon improvement of the Guidance Center, where students had readily-available catalogues from colleges and universities across the nation, supplemented with an updated and revised pamphlet and brochure file on colleges, and also, a new complete file of scholarships offered by schools and companies. Volunteer mothers were present to assist students each period of the day.

Flexibility in the new fine arts curriculum gave the art students a more meaningful use of their time. Such semester courses as basic design, drawing and painting, printmaking, ceramics, art history, and advanced commercial design were offered to give the student a basic art background, as well as provide an opportunity for each student to work at his own level. This curriculum was directed toward the growth of young people in awareness, appreciation, and knowledge of the visual arts.

Mrs. Mary Wilson

English

English was exploding with new plans to take effect this fall. The entire English Department has been revised! Nine-week electives ranging from "Mythology and Folklore" to "This is the End!!!" will be offered so that students will have the opportunity to enroll in courses of interest to them. These courses are designed for ALL students, college bound and non-college bound. The greatest advantage is that teachers, experts in certain fields, will be able to offer a more specialized presentation.

This year, junior and sophomore English teachers constantly strove to improve dangling sentences, worn-out phrases, and poor diction. More complete sets of novels in the school library were made available for the convenience of all.

The senior English curriculum has been based primarily upon a chronological survey of British literature, starting with Shakespeare's HAMLET and progressing to the present. However, for the first time, Sophocles, Camus, Sartre, Tolstoi, and others were read, while composition skills were refined by writing literary critiques of these authors' works.

Seniors also had the opportunity to take Humanities, which studied the relationship of man to his civilization through art, drama, music, dance, philosophy, and literature. This two-hour course enabled students to attend . . . Art Museum exhibits . . . Old and New Cathedral . . . Jewish Temple . . . Christ Church Cathedral . . . Monday Club . . . and much more. Independent study was emphasized to stimulate individual thinking power, supplemented with texts and outside reading.

Theatre improvisational games and exercises, which stimulated individual expression, highlighted drama classes this year through the study of voice and diction. In addition, detailed research reports made the history of theatre from the classical period to the theatre of the absurd come alive. The more advanced classes concentrated on the special techniques of film-making by directing one-act plays.

Science

Discovery through experimentation was emphasized in all chemistry and physics courses. Advanced chemistry classes, for example, spent more than half their time first semester in the labs, testing, determining, and theorizing the concepts of physical chemistry. The second semester, stressing study in organic chemistry, was geared totally to lab work. Different techniques in crystallization, optical isomerism, and distillation were applied. From this experimentation resulted such projects as Webster's renowned Hovercraft.

In lab-orientated science classes, teachers merely acted as supervisors. They directed the student's attention, but allowed the student to discover the fascinating concepts himself.

Industrial Arts

Mr. Theodore

Mr. C. Lynn

The Industrial Arts Department grew approximately one third this year due to broader offerings in Power Technology, Wood, Electricity-Electronics, Metal, and Drafting. Their latest innovations included the use of school-constructed testing and teaching machines, and the addition of Marine Power to the curriculum.

Miss Dorris Buhrle

Mr. James Trotter

Business Education

Office Practice and Office Work-Experience, two new programs offered by the Business Education Department, were designed to be helpful to those students desiring office employment. Girls' Physical Education

Webster was honored to be one of the 25 schools participating in a pilot program to develop a new physical education curriculum for the state. Experimenting with field and team sports as well as individual, duo, and recreational activities provided the basis for the new program. Lummi Sticks, Tiniheling, Folk Dancing, Slimnastics, and Self-Defense were later added.

The art of self-expression using the body as the medium was the implicit goal of Modern Dance. It is offered as an elective for physical education. Movement, force, and variations of level were all considered in original dance compositions performed by modern dance students.

Health

Health Education, a course offered to sophomore students, considered the factors of life and living that influence and are influenced by the health of the individual. Concerned with all aspects—physical, mental, and social—accent was placed upon understanding that which will be important to them as parents and members of a community and world in flux.

Math

A time-sharing computer terminal in Chicago made possible the introduction of Computer Assisted Mathematics at Webster. Thirty-six students wrote programs relating to algebra, geometry, trigonometry, and calculus for the computer, while studying ideas of probability and statistics.

Practical Arts Mathematics, a new course, was designed for the non-college bound student interested in taking practical arts courses. Frequently encountered mathematical ideas in business education, home economics, and industrial arts courses were studied.

The operation of algebra-trigonometry courses was individualized to the point where materials allowed a student to progress through the course at his own rate. Some finished before second semester!

Music

A Choir presented a lively Spring Concert in March, following it with participation in the country-wide festival in April. Both choirs and choruses sang in the spectacular Christmas program and a Patio Concert in May.

The February "Pop Concert," featuring music from "Hair" and "Romeo and Juliet" and the annual Spring Concert highlighted this year's symphonic band. Under Mr. Carson's direction, a number of new drills, including the diamond drill, were presented at football half-time shows.

The most popular language at Webster seems to be Spanish, with 583 students enrolled. Countless stories of Cuba, slides of Mexico, reports such as those on painters El Greco and Goya, and a Spanish Jiminy Cricket movie increased interest in learning this language.

French teachers stressed reading comprehension. Jean Paul Sartre's NO EXIT, Victor Hugo's LES MISERABLES, and French short stories are samples of literature tackled by students of French.

Understanding any language, whether it be French, German, Latin, or Spanish, required concentration and was worth the knowledge gained of other cultures.

Student Council oriented Sophomores, campaigned for magazine sales, a money-making project for the Activities Fund, sold yearbooks, and held school-wide elections. On Turkey Day, Student Council built the bonfire and organized the torch-light parade. The Charity Drive, which provided food for the underprivileged at Christmas, the Talent Show, and the H. A. Latta Scholarship Fund were all sponsored by this organization. These have been traditional activities of Student Council.

Student Council '69-'70 has changed from the social organization it had been to the organization it is now. This year it initiated many progressive steps. It activated the Free Study Program, an honor system that permitted all students to use their study hall time to their own discretion. The program was later supplemented by food and music in the cafeteria.

This spirit of "change" at Webster showed the willingness of students to co-operate and the open-mindedness of the administration to readily accept new ideas.

Guidance Council

Guidance Council '69-'70 never ceased to stimulate Webster with remarkably refreshing ideas. Members helped affect the recent change in the English curriculum by consulting with English teachers. They were partly responsible for the addition of the Smoking Area. Attendance at the St. Louis College of Pharmacy's drug-abuse seminar determined them to arrange a similar seminar for all Webster students. They also presented a movie on driver safety.

Guidance Council not only educated but entertained students by sponsoring a dance after the Turkey Day bonfire. This was the first year this has been done. They also promoted the St. Louis Symphony Concert.

In its third year at Webster, the Student Administrative Board continued to co-ordinate school activities, especially those during Turkey Day, between Class Cabinets, Guidance Council, Student Council, and pep clubs. It dispensed funds to these organizations to execute their plans. This year, many students expressed an interest in a Smoking Lounge, and through S.A.B.'s efforts, a Smoking Area was attained.

Bookstore

The bookstore increased its sales, services, and educational influence. The number of titles stocked more than tripled, school-supply items increased by 21, and the daily traffic rose sharply, largely because of a series of exhibitions keyed to cultural events in the community.

Student and faculty art work, color reproductions, photos, and posters related to Loretto-Hilton plays, notably Shakespeare's OTHELLO, and such City Art Museum offerings as the foreign loan collection of Van Gogh's paintings and drawings, were on display throughout the year.

Webster dancers were fascinated by Jose Limon's dance company as it performed at Kiel November 14. At this time, members of the club prepared for their small but integral part in the Christmas program. Plans for the spring program, Dance Club's major production, began before Christmas, but try-outs weren't held until late in January. Sweat-filled hours of practice after school and in the evening produced a smooth and graceful final performance. The importance of regular attendance at ALL meetings was emphasized and enforced by Mrs. Diane Smith, the club's sponsor and director.

International Thespian Troup 191 of Webster gave its first major production LOOK HOMEWARD, ANGEL November 14, 15 and 17. This was the first year that the Thespian Society was international and Mrs. Ernestine Smizer, the group's sponsor, was a member of the national Board of Trustees. Later in December, Thespians presented a delightful Children's Theatre, THE LION, THE WITCH, AND THE WARDROBE. Students and parents mused over the epitaphs in SPOON RIVER ANTHOLOGY, a Chamber's Theatre in March. The major spring presentation SUMMER TREE, concerned with the problems and fears of young people in today's uncertain world, climaxed a year of rich theatrical experience for Thespians and understudies.

Songs, games, and a Bûche de Noël ignited Le Cercle Français after a late start establishing the club. Sparks followed as the group visited Ste. Genevieve, Missouri, the oldest French settlement west of the Mississippi. The annual French dinner was again held at the end of the year.

Members delighted in learning about the political situation, social customs, and geography of France revealed by French foreign-exchange student, Laurent Huët.

Latin Club held its initiation picnic at Blackburn Park on October 29. Their bakesale in November supplied funds to go to Columbia, Missouri for the Junior Classical.

A Valentine party highlighted February, but the grand annual event, the Latin League Convention, was held in March.

Debate Team

Practice in extemporaneous speaking, public speaking, and radio speaking were advantageously applied by members of the Debate Team, directed by Mrs. Dorothy Weirich, while contending with over 30 other debate teams across the city and county.

Throughout the nation, debate teams reasoned and disputed the resolution. All aspects were uncovered. Supporters of the topic believed that in order to prevent another Viet Nam crisis, Congress should adopt a constitutional amendment limiting the President's power. Those who opposed argued that it was NECESSARY for the President to keep this power.

Sailing Club

Competition ran strong in the sailing races held twice a month in the Grand Basin of Forest Park. With the assistance of their sponsors, Mr. Gene Kiernan and Mr. August Lamar, the club linked itself to the Missouri Valley Sailing Association, which sponsored these races.

Adventures on Alton Lake and a weekend at Trout Lodge provided the needed experience for members to pass through the club ranks. It was hoped each member would learn how to rig and sail a boat with proficiency.

Sixteen became members of Webster's Pulitzer chapter of Quill and Scroll, an international honor society for high school journalists. All initiates were in the upper third of their class, did superior work in some phase of publications, were recommended by the sponsor, Mrs. Elise S. Coleman, and were finally approved by the Society. Initiation took place Monday, February 2.

Amateur photographers captured unusual effects on film by carefully observing their natural surroundings. Weekly meetings were held to view each other's snapshots and to instruct members in developing and printing black and white film.

Camera Club sponsored a photo contest in March in which they awarded prizes to the best entries in each of four categories, still life, human interest, landscape, and photographic tricks.

The power of the book.

"Calculus Classes in Latin America", a topic discussed by Jim Esther, and "Implementation of Calculus Procedures in Computer Programming," by Jay VanDwingelen, promoted understanding and enjoyment of higher mathematics among interested accelerated math students. Their president, Rick Palm, spoke on "Boolean Algebra and Electrical Circuits." Under the guidance of Mr. George Brucker, sponsor, the club conducted a discussion of "Gastronomic Absorption and the Theory of Divisibility."

Representatives from the club attended the regional meeting of Mu Alpha Theta, where Dr. James Gray presented a program entitled "Introduction to Algebraic Structure." They also listened to a distinguished representative from Mark Twain Summer Institute deliver talks on basic integration procedures.

Dances at the Y.M.C.A. in Webster yielded most of the funds desired for scholarships S.B.A.A. sponsored. Two black students chosen by a committee of club members received scholarships of $300 or more. This committee selected from a list of names black students who were generally academically able and who were in financial need. But the most important thing the committee studied was the student's contributions directed toward the general benefit of black students at Webster.

The club also visited exhibits by black artists, attended lectures, and emphasized general recognition of National Negro History Week from February 8 through February 14.

A.F.S. Club welcomed all foreign students who came to Webster this year. It also raised funds for the A.F.S. program, for which nearly $1000 was needed as a share of administration expenses, transportation and allowance for the A.F.S. visitor, Laurent Huet. The annual spaghetti supper on October 25, enlivened by two folk singers, John Jump and Gary Hetzler and serenaded by a bagpipe player who performed during the meal, contributed toward this goal. Numerous celebrations were held throughout the year, including a surprise birthday party for Laurent, a Halloween party and a Christmas gathering, all which reflect a very active and exciting A.F.S. Club year!

Girl's Athletic Association

The G.A.A., the oldest organization at Webster Groves High School, began its 52nd year of exciting games in field hockey, basketball, and volleyball. This year they also competed in a "mock" gymnastics meet.

Girls treated their fathers to box suppers and square-dancing on Dad's Night. Later, in the spring, awards were presented and new officers were installed at the Mother-Daughter Banquet. G.A.A. also sponsored "Kampus King," the backwards dance held April 11.

The difficult task to inform students of current school affairs was successfully accomplished by the 19-member Webster Echo staff. Publish in the paper twice a month and distributing it free of charge, these industrious students, under the supervision of Mrs. Elise S. Coleman and the direction of their editor-in-chief Jay VanDwingelen, strove to present timely and informative news stories. The staff also sponsored Paper Doll Prom and published the 1970 Buzz Book.

With a circulation of 2400, the Webster Echo is a member of Quill and Scroll, a member of the Missouri Interscholastic Press Association, a Blue Banner Member of the Southern Illinois School Press Association, and has received a First Class Honor Rating as a charter member of the National Scholastic Press Association.

Producing this book involves . . . countless man hours . . . stress and strain on the nerves . . . over 250 page lay-outs . . . tense moments . . . deadlines and deadlines . . . pressuring latent photographers . . . exasperation . . . endless searches for lost croppers and grease pencils . . . more deadlines . . . and finally, the accumulation of all our effort, the aesthetic joy of seeing it all in print, ready for the waiting public, you the students of Webster High.

Our nine-man staff and four photographers strove to depict the Year of Change at Webster in pictures and in words. We sought frequent needed advice from Mrs. Elise S. Coleman, our sponsor, and occasionally from Mr. Harry Swain, the American Yearbook representative.

Working within the limitations of a $12,000 budget, we, of the fifty-sixth yearbook staff, attempted to present a true perspective of the year.

Enthusiasm was evident at their March Class Party. Cabinet sponsored the selling of Webster decals for cars and windows and collected assessment fees, all which added up to an active year!

Junior Class Cabinet worked to fulfill its service to the 1969-1970 Junior class. It was responsible for the decoration of Junior entrance and second floor for Turkey Day. A class party and Junior rings boosted spirit.

Junior Cabinet was constantly searching for new ideas to benefit the entire student body.

Senior Cabinet

Senior Class Cabinet promoted student involvement throughout the year. Turkey Day projects included the flaming "W," sheet signs, and Kirk, the monstrous Kirkwood effigy. Senior success at the Prom's "World's Fair," Senior Day, and Senior Class Party was possible only because everyone participated. The "cultural-exchange" with Vashon created an awareness of the need to understand people. As a result, Seniors leave Webster as a proud, united class.

National Merit Semifinalists

Thirteen of 15,000 Semi-finalists were chosen from Webster on the basis of their scores on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test given last February to 750,000 students. Webster hasn't had this many Semi-finalists since 1962. These 15,000 constitute less than 1% of the graduating secondary school seniors in the U.S. High school grades, accomplishments, leadership qualities, and extracurricular achievements were evaluated along with test scores to select 3000 Merit Scholarship winners.

Events

In the production of LOOK HOMEWARD, ANGEL, Laura James, Eugene Gant, and Madame Elizabeth discuss an important deal.

W. O. Gant feels that he has achieved nothing in his life.

Look Homeward, Angel

The first dramatic production of this year was based on the protean novel of youth, LOOK HOMEWARD, ANGEL, by Thomas Wolfe. This comedy-drama portrayed the family of Eugene Gant; Eugene's mother, obsessed by her material holdings; W. O. Gant, the father and stonecutter imprisoned by his failures; and Ben Gant, the brother who never broke away.

Eliza Gant scolds her son Eugene for wanting to leave home.

A body-building breakfast was served to the dynamic Statesmen players at the Pep Breakfast the morning before the ultimate clash against Kirkwood.

Rousing cheers, spirited Pom-Pom routines, and enthusiastic fans in Roberts Gym on Color Day raised the hopes and excitement of the Statesmen for the upcoming football rivalry against Kirkwood. Coach Jack Jones' four-year-old son made a surprise appearance as a miniature Kirkwood football player with Coach Vic Miller's mammoth St. Bernard dog as his companion. The band played, the crowds cheered, and hopes soared!

Seniors showed their spirit.

Sophomores Lyn Arnold and Sue Wright hung posters.

Statesmen rooters readied for a rousing rally at the Pep Breakfast.

Pre-Turkey Day Activities

The magnificent Flaming "WG 70" set the stage for the rally and torchlight parade. Kirk blazed as the bonfire scorched the sky. Then followed a victory dance in Robert's Gym.

Mark Swanson, Randy Tillay, and Neil Hoffsten carry torches for Webster.

Kirk, the demonic 15 ft. Kirkwood effigy, is engulfed by the flames, foreshadowing the outcome of the next day's game.

Cheerleaders received a gift and a kiss from members of the football team.

1969 Turkey Day

Thousands of Webster Groves students, alums, parents, and teachers gathered at Kirkwood's football field for the 55th annual Turkey Day game. The past week's many events had all been in anticipation of this day. Loyal fans braved chill, windy weather as the mighty Webster Statesmen prepared to KRUSH the Kirkwood Pioneers.

Friendship Dance and the Football Maids

Webster-Kirkwood friendship was renewed after the rivalry of Turkey Day at the annual Friendship Dance on November 29. Sponsored by the Hi-Y clubs of both schools, the highlight of the dance was the coronation of Debby Durham of Webster and Debbie Grebe of Kirkwood as football queens. Music was provided by the Touch.

1969 Christmas Program

Sam York and Chuck Lueders portrayed the spirit of brotherhood which was the theme of this year's Christmas program.

John Jump, the choirs, and the audience all joined in to sing of Peace and Brotherhood.

Over 200 Webster students participated in peace and brotherhood in "A Christmas Program" on December 17 and December 22, 1969. Songs sung in concert form by choral groups marked the beginning of the program. A modern dance presentation preceded the play, "A Child Is Born" by Stephen Vincent Benet. The ending of the program, which was written by John Jump, Chuck Lueders, and Bill Weaver, caused total involvement of the cast and audience. A pantomime and a song portrayed the spirit of peace and brotherhood that should be present at Christmas, throughout the year and through every day of our lives.

Webster-Vashon Cultural Exchange

On December 10, 45 students from Vashon High School, a predominantly black inner-city school, came to Webster High for a day to exchange their thoughts and ideas with Webster students. Mr. Marvin Shelton, chairman of the social studies department, gave a keynote address to 125 students in the senior lounge. Later, discussion groups were formed to discuss the theme of the exchange, "We're everyday people; let's sit down together." The senior class cabinet hosted the Vashon guests at lunch, on a tour of the school, and at a coke party after school.

The 1969 Varsity Football Statesmen

WEBSTER—26 DuBOURG—14

The Statesmen started their season victoriously by downing DuBourg. During the game Bucky Givens scored three of the four Webster touchdowns and rushed for 115 yards. Greg Peet was put out for the season when he tore ligaments and cartilage in his knee.

WEBSTER—18 RIVERVIEW GARDENS—6

The Webster Statesmen showed their ability to play football in an 18—6 victory over top-ranked Riverview Gardens. The Webster defense did an outstanding job while the offense carried the ball over the line for three touchdowns.

LADUE—20 WEBSTER—6

Webster football was handed their first defeat in nine games by this year's league champions, the Ladue Rams. Ladue scored in the first and second quarters, taking the lead at the half. Webster scored in the fourth, but was unable to continue their drive as Ladue scored again before the game ended.

PARKWAY—18 WEBSTER—13

The Parkway Colts overcame the statesmen in a hard-fought contest. Throughout the game the scoring switched back and forth between the teams, but Parkway won the game in the fourth from a touchdown made on a punt return.

Webster's dynamic defense always gets their man.

Coaches Robert Hoffman and Vic Miller discuss strategy during a game.

WEBSTER—27 NORMANDY—0

Webster took to the air and downed Normandy 27—0. Chris Stocke threw all four touchdown passes as Mike Hall scored three times and Buckey Givens once. Chuck Bryant and Roger Thomure did outstanding jobs, as the defense held Normandy throughout the game.

Coach Vic Miller butts in.

WEBSTER—28 MEHLVILLE—6

Webster crushed the Mehlville Cougars in a 28—6 victory. The statesmen made all their touchdowns in the first half as Greg Scarato, Mike Hall, Bucky Givens and defensive man Bill Morris scored.

The second half was uneventful, however. Mehlville scored once.

WEBSTER—14 UNIVERSITY CITY—6

The Statesmen overcame the U. City Indians in a game influenced by interceptions. In the first quarter, Ron Dahlin started a series of interceptions while Tom O'Rourke ran for Webster's two touchdowns.

Frank Klein and Greg Peet ruefully watch their teammates.

Chris Stocke prays while Gary Hasselfeld watches the defensive action.

LINDBERGH—31 WEBSTER—20

In the last game before Turkey Day the Statesmen fell to the Lindbergh flyers. In the first half Lindbergh scored three t.d.s and two conversions as Webster scored once.

During the second half it looked as if Webster was coming back as they scored twice, but Lindbergh scored as Webster's time ran out.

Turkey Day

Webster scored early as Bill Morris recovered a fumble on the Kirkwood 20-yard line, and Chris Stocke crossed the line for the only t.d. of the game.

Kirkwood began to move the ball in the second quarter, but their drive was stopped when Ron Dahlin intercepted for Webster.

In the fourth quarter Bucky Givens made a 55-yard run and a 26-yard run, but Webster failed to score on either. In the remaining portion of the game, the Pioneers tried to

1 score, but the Statesmen defense was too
9 much for them as the game ended Webster—
6 Kirkwood—0.

6 Two Statesmen received All-District, All-9 Conference, All-Suburban, and All-Metropolitan honors this season. Center Dan DeFosset and linebacker Greg Scarato both made first All-District and All-Conference teams, second All-Suburban team, and fourth All-Metropolitan team.

Smack you!

Hopes, pains and mounting tensions of the football season were culminated in one afternoon—November 27, 1969, Turkey Day. On that cold day the Webster Statesmen defended their right to keep the Frisco bell another year in the oldest high school rivalry west of the Mississippi.

As the final buzzer sounded, the bell rang out for the Statesmen victory, making all the tension and worry dissipate in a crowd of 10,000.

The bell clangs as the cheerleaders and crowd count down seconds at the end of the game.

Junior Steve Musko reflects the result of the game.

Based on a program of intramural games, class teams, and culminating teams, girls' sports have been actively played this year. Field hockey, basketball, and volleyball headed the list of the sports played against other area schools. Girls, also, participated in gymnastics, badminton, and bowling after school.

In playing these activities, each girl was eligible to earn points. After accumulating 100 points, she could then join Girls' Athletic Association.

A strong defense and a talented offense led to the success of this year's team. Scoring was the occupation of Captain John Reed as he managed to be the high scorer of most games. Usually the starting five were John Reed, Bob Banker, Denny Schmelzel, Gene Young, and Rich Race. This year's team had seven juniors, and three of them started. This gives bright outlooks for the season to come.
